Grant and Colfax.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

The people have had their way. They have demanded for their representative that silent soldier who, like them, never retreats—who gives us acts instead of words—performance instead of promises. What fitter representative could the American people have than such a man as this? They have an instinctive sympathy with him, because he is their own—bone of their bone and flesh of their flesh. Napoleon used to say that the ruler should be of the fiber of the people. We want no ruler: only a representative, and no better one can we find than Grant. The tenacity of his resolution and the steady sweep of success as a General, fitly represent the unbending will and the slow but sure progress with which the loyal men of this land put down rebellion in arms, with which they have since opposed and thwarted all the attempts of traitors to regain power, and with which they propose to continue the contest as long as it lasts, if it be forever. Grant was the only efficient leader they found in the conflict of arms. He has been with them steadily and faithfully all through the political opposition, now, happily, almost overcome. After two such trials of his ability and fidelity, we have no reason to doubt that in whatever difficulties or dangers may yet await us, his judgment will be as clear, his will as firm, and his heart as sound, as we have uniformly found them hitherto. In war, his reliance was not so much on the fine-spun theories of tacticians as on the courage and persistence of the private soldier. In peace, he has cared little for the plots and plans of politicians, but much for the plain views and resolute purposes of the people. Whether this is because he has an intuitive perception of the great coming interests of all, or because, being truly representative of the people, he reads their views reflected in his own; in either case he exhibits what most of all we need in a President. This is a people's government, and its Executive must willingly and faithfully carry out the people's will. Doing that, he does his whole duty. Capacity to do it is not by any means common. The mere politician fails to do it because he studies partisan interests more than the public welfare. The statesman may fail to do it because he is so absorbed in his own views that he cannot or will not perceive what the people think or desire. Grant's very inexperience in public life may be no disadvantage. He has no theories or policies of the past to clog him. His mind is free to form unbiased and just opinions of public measures as necessity calls for them. During the war he succeeded mainly because he would not be bound by military precedents, which other and good Generals trembled to see him set aside. His campaigns were sometimes as original and daring as those of Napoleon. In a new country with novel surroundings and means of warfare before unknown, his common sense taught him that different plans and proceedings would be appropriate. Thus he felt his way to success not less by his keen appreciation of what the situation demanded than by the unbending will with which he pursued his object. The political situation now is just as novel as was the military problem—more so. The questions to be decided by us in politics and finance are sui generis; or, if not absolutely new in themselves, they arise, under such novel circumstances that they cannot safely be decided merely by old precedents or upon former theories. We believe that the intellect and heart of the American people are capable of dealing with all those questions and deciding them rightly on their merits. General Grant thinks so too; and between him and the people there exists that mutual confidence in each other's good intentions and sound judgment, which, of itself, assures success to him first in reaching the Executive chair and then in filling it to the satisfaction of all who love liberty and desire justice. We do not believe there is any other man in the country, however brilliant his abilities or profound his statesmanship, who would be more likely to win, or would be more fit for the place. Grant has not appealed to the popular fancy, but to the public judgment. Not his professions or his theories, but his decisions and his deeds have commended him. Lifted up already to the highest eminence, he has not grown vain or weak. The honor we would now have him take, we must thrust upon him. He does not desire it; duty alone can prevail upon him to accept what is a personal self-sacrifice. From the quiet position of General-in-Chief he has no temptation to come forward and expose himself to the slanders, the lies, the buffetings of friend and foe which beset a Presidential candidate. Though doubting little of success, he can count it no gain to exchange his present position for one than which none in the world has greater perplexities and difficulties. But Grant is in the prime of life, and he cannot dutifully deny himself to a popular demand more unanimous and pressing than any since that of Washington. At the age of forty seven he will be called upon to inaugurate a new era in our country's history, as more important and glorious in its events than those of the past, as his war-like achievements have been greater than those of his revered prototype. "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," will, we are confident, yet be said of Grant and Washington alike. Ohio, which gave him birth, will shower its ballots upon him. Illinois, where he has his home, will know no stint in his acclaim. The whole West, which knows him so well as the leader of its brave heroes, and the East, whose sons were first shown by him the path to victory, will unite to achieve a civic triumph under his banner. The defeated South itself will recognize him as its most magnanimous foe, and its best friend. The Pacific coast asks no better standard-bearer, and California, under his lead, will throw off the incubus of Democracy, with which it is now half straddled. If there are any mousing politicians who have sought to prevent this nomination, they see now how weak they are when the people announce their will. If there are any jealous statesmen who would have imperiled the country's safety rather than lose the prize of their ambition, they will fail to divert any portion of the Union array from the leadership of Grant. The loyal soldiers and sailors hail him as their first and only choice; those whose hearts and hands at home were with and for the soldiers and sailors are not less unanimous in his support. The undying memories of the war, the pressing needs of the present, the unopened problems of the future, all demand him. Representatives of the people in all these, he has been, is and will be, the people's choice.

If anything could add to the dismay which Grant's nomination must create in the ranks of the Democracy, especially in this State, it is the naming of Schuyler Colfax as Vice President. Only a year younger than Grant, he has been a member of seven successive Congresses, and Speaker of three. He is known to the whole country by his eloquence, his unbending integrity, his liberal views, his unwavering fidelity to all that is noble in the impulses of the American people. He may yet be President by the removal of Johnson, since Wade will resign in case of conviction. But whether President or not, California will do its share in swelling the loud acclaim with which he will be chosen and congratulated as Vice President of these United States.

President Johnson has one trait which does not evince greatness of mind: whenever he thinks he can make a point against an antagonist he goes to the newspapers with any document that he may happen to have, no matter what the character of it may be. In this way, while Grant refused to defend himself by the publication of what he considered a private letter to the President, that functionary printed everything he could lay his hands on, private or otherwise, in order to injure Grant with the people, if possible. After the Alta Vela imbroglio began with Black, somebody thought to ruin the Managers on the part of the House by publishing an opinion as to the validity of the claim of Black's clients, signed by several Republican members, among which were two or three of the House Managers. It now turns out that the opinion in question was written and signed long before the impeachment trial began or the attempt to remove Stanton was made. This the President knew, yet he had the document published, with the hope that somebody might be hurt by it. It was the blind thrust of an angry bill.—Alta.

To inculcate contentment with our lot, the eminent John Newton left us this saying: "If two angels came down from heaven to execute a divine command, and one was appointed to conduct an empire, and the other to sweep a street in it, they would feel no inclination to change employments."

Who are the Friends of Free Trade with England?

[From the Irish Republic.]

The trade of England—her buying and selling to her own advantage in almost every land on earth—is the very backbone of her power. Deprived of this, she would be like Samson shorn of his locks. Her people would be a horde of benighted and brutalized serfs, as badly fed and clothed and housed as their ancestors were, less than two thousand years ago, when they lived on slugs, and such other garbage as they could get, under the black forests of the Baltic. And her nobles would be little superior to the painted savages which Julius Cæsar saw when he landed on the shore of Britain.

This is so self evident that it will neither be doubted nor denied by any individuals, outside of England, except by those who are too ignorant to understand it, or too full of party prejudice to confess the truth, even when it is clear and cogent enough to compel the convictions of their disingenuous minds. The former class deserve our pity. The latter are worthy only of scorn and contempt.

If, therefore, in British trade lies the secret of British power, it follows, as an inevitable consequence, that all who, from any motive whatever, give their money or their influence to uphold that trade are the friends and supporters of that power. It matters nothing to us what the nature of the motives may be by which men are actuated in pursuing such a course of conduct. Such motives are undoubtedly widely different. But they all produce one result, and that is English aggrandisement. On the part of Englishmen themselves, self interest is the very natural and powerful reason why they desire to ship their pauper-made rubbish to all lands, and to bring the gold of all lands back to English pockets. And considering what human nature is, it is hardly reasonable to blame them for enriching themselves at other people's expense, when other people are silly enough to permit their doing so. On the part of Canadian Dominionists and of the West Britons of Ireland, the motive is a different one. It consists in no small degree, of jealousy of their fellow-countrymen. For after all, the citizens of the United States are virtually sons of the same soil with the Canadians, and ought to be what they essentially are, the same people. But the latter have grown so small-minded, under their foreign tutelage, that too many of them have come to hate the glory and greatness of the American Republic, which they feel must overmaster and absorb them at last. But even they are not fools enough to swallow the full dose of Free Trade with England. That amount of stupidity and insanity was reserved for another people, to whom we shall presently allude. And as to the Irish-born worshipers of English power, they, too, hate and fear their Republican countrymen, for all true Irish nationalists are to-day Republicans, whether they are still at home or scattered in exile. Hence "the West Britons" bow in slavish adoration before the golden calf which England erects and commands them to worship. They are free traders (in the English sense) to a man. But there is yet an additional class who pronounce the same shibboleth, and grovel at the same shrine. Their leaders, although, generally speaking, Americans by birth, are not true to American institutions, nor to American interests. They are so much more worthy to associate with those whose characters we have just glanced at. The Southern slavocracy had no trade nor manufactures of their own. All that they did was to compel negroes to raise cotton, which they sold, and—without remunerating the raisers of the commodity—they put the money to their own use. They depended, almost entirely, on the industry of others for those innumerable articles which in modern life have become less a matter of luxury than of necessity. The English worshipped "King Cotton," and paid liberally for his services, so they loved England dearly. England was a land of lords and plebeians, where Republican equality was a thing to sneer at and contemn. Hence those who wished to become a "chivalry" and an "aristocracy," founded on slavery and injustice, admired England immensely and were ready to tie their fortunes to her apron strings. England had so effectually enslaved her white masses, that, driven from the land, they were obliged to crowd and huddle together in what are called the manufacturing districts, and take for their labor what they could get rather than die of sheer hunger. So English manufacturers could get their "hands" to work for half wages, and could, therefore, supply the Southern slaveholders with all manner of goods at half the price at which they could be produced in America. So the South went in for Free Trade, heart and soul; and the Northern Democracy supported them, and ninety-five hundredths of the Irish people of the United States were, as they still are, Democrats to the core. And so it came to pass that the most enthusiastic supporters of Free Trade with England, and consequently of the power and glory and perpetuation of the British Empire, are the Irishmen of America!!

So we have found out another—which constitutes no less than the fourth—class of the friends of Free Trade with England, and these are the Irish Democrats of the United States.

Now we have a few words to say to those Irishmen who thus, by voting with the Democrats, and supporting the great Democratic doctrine of Free Trade with England, are swelling the wealth and upholding the power of England. We shall speak the truth fearlessly, but at the same time calmly and without prejudice; and we ask a fair and candid hearing.

There is a duty which you owe to the whole human race, and that duty is, to do what in you lies to strike down those European tyrannies which have plundered the natives, and reduced two-thirds of your fellow-men to the wretched condition of beggars and slaves. These accursed despotisms, whether they are called [illegible]pires or monarchies, whether they are [illegible] by [illegible] robbers under the names of kings or queens, czars or kaisers, are all pieces of one great whole. They all depend on each other, and are linked in a vast conspiracy to oppress and destroy. England is the key-stone of the entire infernal structure. The man who votes down her trade gives one blow to level the whole with the earth. The man who votes for her trade [illegible] all Dem[illegible] voters do—is aiding and assisting, whether he knows it or not, to continue the robbery and oppression and wholesale murder of mankind.

You owe a duty to the American Republic, to which as good citizens you have sworn to bear true allegiance. Has England ever been anything but the enemy of that Republic? What was she in the days of Washington, when she not only poured the red tide of her infamous mercenaries on our shores to murder American liberty, but when she hired hordes of brutal Hessians to do the same unholy work; yes, and hounded on the Indian savage with his tomahawk and scalping-knife on the helpless wives and children of American patriots who were battling in the field for the liberties they now enjoy? What was England during the late war, but the truculent, cowardly enemy of this great Republic? Anxious to wound and rend and destroy, yet afraid to strike—building and arming her pirate Alabamas to sweep American commerce from the sea, and thus to aggrandize herself by getting the trade of the world into her hands? We ask you, Irishmen, are you doing your duty to the Republic of which you are citizens, when you vote for Free Trade with England? We ask you the question. Will some of you be good enough to send us a reply?

You owe a duty to Ireland, the land of your birth. That duty is to strike down the oppressor of your country, and the calumniator and murderer of your name and race, by any weapon of which you can lay hold, and at any time which affords you the opportunity. We once believed—we would like still to believe—that whatever else that is good and noble an Irishman may lose, there is one honorable feeling which continues to live and burn in his soul, throughout all chan[illegible] and changes, till his heart is cold in death. That feeling is a heart-hatred of his country's hereditary enemy, an earnest thirst to measure strength with that enemy in field or forum, and "give back blow for blow." It is for this great purpose that Irishmen, here, in America, have banded themselves into a great national organization, and have subscribed and spent millions of their hardly-earned money. And is it come to this that Irishmen are all the while the main support of English power in America? That the political party they support is bound neck and heel to have Free Trade with England? For we again affirm that party which can carry Free Trade lays America at England's feet. And the Democrats are resolved to do it, and if they can carry the country, WILL DO IT. Then the wealth of America and the world will be at the command of England. Then her power will be alike supreme and universal. Then farewell to all hopes of Irish liberty. Are you prepared for this? Will you continue to uphold it? If you do, then cease to prate of Fenianism or Irish national in[illegible]. You are the minions of England, and by [illegible] such, proclaim yourselves traitors to your [illegible] faith in the eternal cause of your [illegible] liberty.

You owe a duty to your own children, and that is, to give them such support and [illegible] position and intelligence as the [illegible] of freemen should possess and manifest. Put an end to English competition and your [illegible] will be doubled. You can do it by voting for and standing by those who will prohibit the [illegible] of English manufactures on the American [illegible]. But continue as you have been doing of late, that is, to vote for a false Democracy and a[illegible] Free Trade with England—and the two or three [illegible] a day which some of you are still perhaps able to earn, will soon "grow small by degrees and beautifully less," until you find yourselves [illegible] the English and Irish level of "six [illegible] a day and nothing found."

Callous Impudence

The "Democracy" of Portland got control of the city government by charging extravagance upon the Union party and promising retrenchment Now where is the retrenchment? What expense of the city government is not as great as it was before these "retrenchers" came into power? What item of expense has been reduced? Before the city election last June they put the tax for general purposes down to 3½ mills on the dollar and now they have raised the same tax to 4½ mills The only difference of any importance which they have made in city expenses is the grant of a [illegible] sum of money, drawn from the pockets of the tax-payers, to support the worthless partisan newspaper which is published in their interest, and which has not ability enough to live without this enforced charity. These same small politicians who promised such wonders of retrenchment in the city government and who have forgotten to perform them, are now making an effort to get control of county affairs by the same method. They are a "cheeky" set, and the editor of the organ is a very suitable tool for their [illegible]

Let Oregon Give no Comfort to Disunionists

It gives us pleasure to note the fact that George H. Pendleton is making good head [illegible] the Presidential nomination at the hands of his party The Cincinnati Enquirer, his "home organ," regards his nomination as almost certain It is altogether proper that Pendleton should receive the nomination He believed in the rebellion, urged the country to acquiesce in the disruption of the Union, and did all he could do to prevent it from being reunited, except to follow Breckinridge and other leading "Democrats" into the rebel camp. The "Democratic" party of Oregon have declared for Pendleton for President If Smith is elected they will claim that Oregon has endorsed their disunion Presidential candidate. Will the people of this State permit this? We cannot believe they will.

Every Man to his Duty

It is often the case that Union voters are slow or careless about getting in their votes on election day We appeal to our friends to give up Monday to the work of the election Get your votes in early. See that every point is well guarded, that nothing which might be done be left undone. Do not account it a hardship to devote the day to earnest work for the cause. Make it your first business to vote, and then see to it that your neighbor votes also. Bring the tardy up to the polls. If the day is rainy do not mind it, you are not genuine Oregonians if you let rain interfere with your duties Be prepared for every emergency, work till the close of the day with unabated effort, and we shall surely get the victory.

[illegible]

Beriah, who is 53 years of age and infirm in health and character, publishes a column of the [illegible] blackguardism and blasphemy which his [illegible] imagination can invent, and attributes it to Gov. Oglesby of Illinois, Senator Wade and other prominent Unionists This is a very weak device, and would never be resorted to except by the silliest blackguard. If Beriah did not invent the foul stuff himself, he copied from some Copperhead paper which is conducted by as great a fool and blackguard as he is Such a torrent of filth never came from any other source than than the [illegible] of a Brick Pomeroy Copperhead.

Oregon's Duty.

As the nation believed that GRANT would conquer the rebellion from the time he set out against Richmond, so every Union man now believes that under the inspiration of his [illegible] the Union party will advance to a certain triumph at the polls There can be no doubt of the result of the national election, whatever Oregon may do on Monday, but Oregon should take pride in keeping her loyal record free from stain, and in being prepared to add her voice to the general acclamation which will greet GRANT and COLFAX in November

Come out To-night!

Hon David Logan and others will address the people of Portland at the Court House to-night Union men! turn out and make this demonstration of the campaign the most imposing one yet witnessed here or elsewhere in Oregon. Let us have a crowd to welcome our leader on his appearance at his home after his gallant campaign of two months in behalf of the Union party Let the whole spirit and enthusiasm of the campaign be centered in this effort Union men! come out! come out! to-night,

Rev Joseph Smith repeated his whangdoodle speech last night—the same one he has made at every point in the State It is a sort of sermon got up on the principle of the celebrated harp of a thousand strings [illegible] The Brother is not noted for any great variety in his political preaching But he preaches death and perdition to the "nigger" every time The Brother is "orthodox" on this point, if on no other

The Toledo Blade remarks that Andrew Johnson is the first Vice President ever inaugurated drunk, the first man who ever became President by assassination, the first man who ever vetoed sixteen acts of Congress the first man who ever dared to make himself the constitutional tribunal

COME OUT to the great Union meeting at the Court House to-night

The sale of Internal Revenue stamps is quite profitable. Last year the General Government paid over $530,000 as commissions on the sale of over $16,040,000 worth of stamps.

General Grant and his Detractors

Is it possible to find in history anything more discreditable or more adapted to inspire fears for our national future than the disposition shown by the writers and speakers of a political faction among us to disparage the great soldier to whom, as the organizer and leader of our gallant countrymen we owe triumph over our enemies and the deliverance of the Republic from the most terrible perils We can all well remember the time when there was no difference of opinion or at least of expression in regard to that great soldier's merits Under the impression of events just accomplished there were none who could ignore or deny his deserts, any more than they could deny or ignore the shining of the midday sun But he now has his detractors as other men, deserving well of their country have had their detractors before him In reading the attempts of these writers to disparage Grant and abate the admiration with which he is regarded the reader cannot fail to be reminded of the frequency with which history repeats itself The future American Plutarch will find very many important lines of parallel between Grant and Washington and should he possess the antiquarian taste which led Macaulay to ransack not only the British Museum but all nooks and corners for libels and broad sheets he will run his parallel into details, which may even offend the dignity of history Grant is remarkable for reticence regarding men and events of his time and country So was Washington Grant say these declarations is quite destitute of genius, he is a mere plodder, who has accomplished nothing by commanding intellect, but everything by felicity of opportunity and by availing himself of the suggestions of others. All this and much more of the same kind was said of Washington, and the violent coarse and indecent invective which was poured out upon him was fully equal to anything which the worst of the writers of the present time are saying or can say about Grant But the nation contemplates with admiration and cherishes with gratitude the memory of Washington The result will be the same in the case of our contemporary General and benefactor "Genius," said Buffon "is patience" Such is the genius of Grant In all the stages of the great war we had Generals, and now we have many statesman, gifted with the intuition which sees, or thinks it sees, all things ready for prompt and decisive action Some of these Generals acted promptly with disastrous results Some of these statesmen who are now so anxious to act with promptitude would fail similarly Grant's reputation as a soldier as well as for practical sagacity in statesmanship, may well and safely be left to the calm judgment of his countrymen

The Union Party

To the Union party the country is indebted for its preservation That party is the only one which had the patriotism and courage to take up the issue presented by armed traitors, and fight for national unity and national honor The opposing organization, known as the Democratic party, had plunged the Government into chaos, the country then under the control of that party, had been dismuted one-third of the States had been suffered to disown and defy the authority of the nation and the Democratic party, having brought affairs into this fearful state, denied the right of the Government to take any measures for enforcing the laws and preserving the Union These are the truths of history—shameful undeniable truths, which will stand forever against the Democratic party At this crisis the Union party, composed of all who denied the Democratic dogmas and were resolved that the country should be preserved and our nationality maintained, sprang to the national defense, and declared that as traitors had taken the sword they should perish by the sword, that as arms had been appealed to to destroy the country, by arms the country should be maintained At every step of this great struggle the Union party was opposed by the organization which had plunged the nation into this fearful difficulty, but it persevered, beat down the rebellion at a terrible cost of blood and treasure, and saved the country from ruin The party which a few years ago drove the country on the rocks of disunion and then denied that there was any "constitutional" power to save it, is now contending again for the helm of the nation against the party by whose patriotic efforts and sacrifices the country was preserved Voters of Oregon! Which party is most worthy of your confidence? It cannot be difficult for you to decide

Smith and the Methodists.

The partisans of Smith, with the habitual unscrupulousness for which they noted, continue to circulate the story that large numbers of Methodists will vote against Logan Ministers of that denomination are named as certain to vote for Smith, who in truth would see their right hands wither before they would cast a ballot for him and thus give aid and comfort to the cause he represents This story is circulated chiefly among members of the Methodist Church, with a design of influencing by falsehood the votes of some who may not be well informed as to the facts. A leading Methodist clergyman informs us that he knows of no man of Union principles belonging to that denomination who will vote for Smith They vote on principle and for principle We may add here that the Church of which Rev Joseph Smith is a member does not particularly admire the course of the Brother, in that he withdrew from the ministry on the pretense that his throat and lungs were too weak for service as a preacher though he finds them strong enough to make a stumping tour of two months over the State howling with Democratic boisterousness for two or three hours every day

The Democracy of Portland, a few days since determined to have a torch light procession on Saturday night, and not to be behind the rest of the world, they concluded also to have some transparencies The latter conclusion involved them at once in trouble somebody must be found who could read and spell, as well as paint After casting around, they finally hit upon an expedient which had often before and in various places served to extricate them from similar dilemmas It would do in such an emergency to employ Republicans, and Republicans were employed The Democratic managers, not being themselves remarkably well posted as to who could and who could not read, had unfortunately overlooked one or two intelligent painters of the Democratic faith, who feel that they have been badly treated and it is possible that the torchlight effort will not be as profitable an affair as was anticipated

BEASTLY OBSCENITY —That elegant editorial of Beriah's containing the choice extract attributed to Gov Oglesby, of Illinois, but written by Beriah himself or some other equally foul Democratic blackguard, has been the theme of a good deal of talk If the Grand Jury at its next sitting does not indict the horribly dirty old blackguard for his disgusting obscenity, it will not do its duty.

A New Sensation

We are informed that a circular purporting to be written by Wm H Adams and addressed to Dr McBride bitterly assailing Hon David Logan has been put in circulation during the last two days in different parts of the State Whether the document was actually written by Mr Adams or not, we do not know nor do the public care but we do know that Dr McBride is zealously supporting Mr Logan and working for his election It will be remembered that he has within a week published a letter in the Oregon News urging every Union man to stand firm for Logan and to spare no effort to elect him Furthermore, we are positively assured that Dr McBride never saw the Adams letter and knows nothing of it and that Mr Huntington authorizes the statement that the part of the Adams letter said to be on his authority is untrue If Adams wrote it it was got up in concert with Copperheads, who, it is understood, are giving it circulation If genuine, it is a production of Adams' spleen, and in any event can do no injury except to its author and those in whose interest it is published The publication of it under such circumstances is extremely damaging to Adams That he should prepare a letter of this sort get it printed, put it into the hands of the Copperheads, and then take the precaution to get out of the State before it was made public is about the most contemptible act ever perpetrated in Oregon It is said that the whole transaction was concerted with Asahel Bush, of Salem It deserves to be spoken of in the language which old Sam Johnson, who hated a dirty act with as much heartiness as anybody, applied to a performance of Bolingbroke's This individual wrote a bitter attack on Christianity, but would not have it published till after his death Sometime after that event it was given to the world by a person in whose charge he had left it Johnson in speaking of this called Bolingbroke "a scoundrel who had charged a blunderbuss against Christianity but being afraid to fire it off during his lifetime, had left a beggarly Scotchman half a crown to pull the trigger" So if Adams wrote this circular, taking care to get out of the way before it was published, and leaving a confederate "to pull the trigger," he will deserve the contempt and receive the condemnation of every man of respectable character in Oregon

Soldiers Disfranchised

CINCINNATI May 4

The Ohio Senate has passed the bill disfranchising soldiers in the Dayton Asylum, by a strict party vote

The Assembly has since completed the outrage They Dayton Asylum is a home where those of the Ohio soldiers of the late war who were so crippled by the loss of limbs, or otherwise as to be unable to labor, and who are without friends able to support them are provided for and maintained There is not one in ten of these men whose bodies have been torn and mangled by rebel shot and shell, who votes the so called Democratic ticket consequently the Democratic Legislature of Ohio remorselessly strikes the bruised and battered veterans from the list of voters Any number of Kentuckians who served during the war in the Confederate army, and who may have lived one year in Ohio are authorized to go to the polls and vote but the Union soldiers who have lost their legs their arms, or were otherwise seriously disabled on the battle field fighting for their country are branded by the Democratic Legislature of Ohio as unfit for political equality with the ex Confederate guerrillas and assassins who have drifted into the State since the war Let it be remembered that there is no pretext about "white" in this case These soldiers are white men—of pure Caucasian blood the sons of Irish, German and American settlers of Ohio Their disfranchisement is the gratification of the meanest of all indecent political revenges, and can be regarded as nothing less than a brutal, cowardly blow at brave men no longer able to defend themselves, and who, as long as they live will, in their shattered mangled forms, be living monuments of the bloody Democratic treason and rebellion against the Union

A PETRIFIED INDIAN FOOT —John Reinhardt, of this city has a specimen of petrifaction, supposed to have been the foot of a Delaware Indian Upon a nearly square stony substance, sixteen by ten inches, and varying from one to two inches in thickness, resembling lava in formation, and slightly imbedded, is a smooth, hard stone of a different consistency, having the appearance of a human foot The specimen was dug out of the ground in a swampy spot three miles from Newburgh, Orange county six years ago, by a German who kept a hotel near by He thought it would be a good thing to scratch matches on, and accordingly took it home, where he used it for that purpose Mr John Reinhardt, of this city there saw it, and made up his mind that it was a petrified object of some description He stated his belief to the owner, and offered to buy it But the latter, thinking it might be of some value, seemed unwilling to part with it However Mr Reinhardt finally prevailed upon the owner to give it to him, for a consideration of a stone match safe Mr R brought it to Poughkeepsie, and kept it in his possession until the year 1861, when he sent it to Germany to be used in the construction of the Schiller Monument It arrived too late for that purpose, but it attracted the attention of several eminent German medical professionals, who examined it and pronounced it to be a human foot formerly belonging to an Indian The substance in which the foot is imbedded they said, was originally blood Subsequently it was returned to Mr Reinhardt —Poughkeepsie Express

GREELEY ANSWERS A CONUNDRUM —A correspondent signing himself "Georgia" informs us that he has lost $60,000 worth of slaves by the emancipation policy of the Republican party, and asks if that is consistent with that clause of the Constitution which forbids private property to be taken for public uses without just compensation We will reply to his conundrum by asking him a other When our Savior, on one occasion, meeting two men possessed of devils in a very aggravating and excessive number ordered the devils to depart and enter into certain swine, under the sudden and unfortunate inspiration, kicked up their heels and with one accord "ran down a steep place place into the sea and were drowned," had the owner of the swine a right of action in trespass against their Creator for taking his private property for a public use without paying for it? If so, then "Georgia" is entitled to pay for the loss of his slaves.

EXTRAORDINARY RECOVERY OF SPEECH —A physician sends the following to the Dundee (Scotland) Advertiser

A man, aged forty years, named David Conflacher, who had been deaf and dumb for more than thirty five years, was seized for the third time with paralysis From the first there was no hope of his recovery, and he died twenty four hours after his seizure Nearly ten minutes before his death he rose up in bed and distinctly said, clear and plainly "O Mary Mary, Mary!" You may imagine the effect the words produced on those setting in the room hearing one speak who had been so long mute His sister fainted outright, and others were panic stricken at the unusual occurrence Then he became unconscious and died

SKETCHES BIOGRAPHICAL —The San Francisco Dramatic Chronicle continues its "sketches biographical" Of Judge O C Pratt it says

The Judge is a native of America, he studied law with Judge Doody at the anvil, in Oregon He settled in California when lands were in dispute, and the darkies at a discount He has made his pile, owing to the enhanced value of real estate and the rapid increase of travel by negroes in the railroad cars The Judge worships the Roman See, but attends Protestant prayer meeting He was sued but once and that was for half pilotage He walks upright before the people and banks his money in the California Bank, as soon as he leaves the bench He will aspire to be Chief Justice when females will be allowed to practice in our courts

VERY GOOD —A learned professor in a New England college was accustomed to demand of students an excuse whenever they were dilatory at recitation The excuse given, he invariably added "Very well but don't let it happen again" One morning a married student happened to be behind time was promptly interrogated as to the cause Slightly embarrassed he replied "The truth is sir I had an addition to my family this morning, and it was not convenient to be here sooner" "Very well" replied the Professor in his quick nervous manner, "very well but don't let it happen again"

(wich is in the Stait uv Kentucky)
April 2[illegible] 1868

There never will be peace or anything like it at the Corners till that disturber Joe Bigler, and his faithful adherent aider and abettor Pollock, are shot or otherwise killed In the olden time, afore the inoggerashen uv the Ablishen era we hed a short way uv disposin uv sich It wuz a maxim in the South that ther cood be peece only where ther wuz a perfect yoonanimity uv sentiment and to bring about that onenis uv ideas—that delitefol concord wich wuz so desirable—we were in the habit uv shootin or hangin the most stubborn uv those wich didn't agree with the majority and tarrin and featherin those who were not akcessible to Kentucky reason By vigerously persooin this course the minorities in th[illegible] community wuz kept [illegible] by small and controllable Why these cusses hev nt ben so treated passes my apprehenshen

Our Convention to nominate candidates for county officers wuz held yesterday I wuz Cheerman uv course for I now okupy that posishen (since it wuz discovered that Captain McPelter can rite he hez bin Sekretary) and I felt a stokin sensashen when I saw that cuss Bigler and that ther cuss Pollock enter the door

Deekin Pogram ez he saw em [illegible] Rising to his feet the venerable [illegible] exclaimed in a voice tremulous with emoshun wat in thunder he wuz there for

"Josef [illegible] Dimocratic Convenshun holdin, ez yoo do, opinyuns the reverse uv Dimocratic"

"Deekin" returned this Bigler "I [illegible] my body Fedral lead—I wuz under the Confedrit flag in sixty battles, skirmishes and skedaddles I hev a certifikit to that effek from the late lamented John Morgan That certifikit would admit me to a seat in any Dimocratic Convenshun in the North—shel it not be sufficient here in Kentucky? A[illegible] the Profit is not without honor save in his own Cross Roads"

And Josef let on he wept, when Pollock ostentashusly handed him a pocket handkerchief

"Ef I hold any heterodox views I hev repented uv em me and Pollock and we purpose to vote for all yer resolooshens like frisky lambs wat is glad to get back to the true fold Dont we, Pollock?"

"Certain we do The Convenshun may go on and count us in ez true converts from Ablishinism wich, in view of the fact that my store hez bin set on fire twict becoz uv my awful opinions, I may be sed to be a brand pluckt from the burnin Go on"

Findin that they wuz bound to stay, we went on The first thing in order wuz the adopshen uv resolooshens, ez follows

1 We resolved we hed the utmost confidence in Andrew Johnson, President uv the Yoonited States perviden he wuzn't impeeched ef he wuz then we shood hev the privilij uv considerin him worthy uv confidence or not, ez the circumstances uv the case shood warrant

2 That the Congris of the Yoonited States wuz a unconstitooshenal body wich wuz persistently endeavrin to break up the Government uv the Yoonited States, wich we wuz desperately strivin to save

3 That the only hope uv Yoonun lay in the displacement uv sich traitors ez Grant Sumner and Stevens, and the puttin in their places sich guileless patriots ez Breckinridge, Price, Vallandygum et al;

4 That the thanks uv the Democracy is doo the people uv the South for their forbearance in not risin to sweep the radical fickshun from the face uv the earth

At this pint Bigler arose He wanted to know ef this Convenshun stylin itself the Democratic, wuz agoin to be satisfied with them resolooshens? He called for the readin uv the regular one without wich no Dimocratic platform wuz complete He referred to the one lettin this Government forever to white men Here it is, he sed

Resolved That this Government wuz established by white men, and that white men will keep it intact for white men and their posterity forever

"I demand, ez a white man," sed Bigler, "that this resolooshen be added Let every white man, every proud Caucashen who bleeves in race, say 'aye,' and with emphasis"

And every one uv em hollered out "aye" with all their mite

"Good!" sed Bigler, "good White men and their posterity!—what a noble sentiment Say 'aye' to my resolooshun agin"

And they yelled "aye" agin

"Now Pollok brother in the true faith, newly baptized, will you open the door? Its better to be a doorkeeper in the house uv Democracy than to dwell in the tents of Ablishinism Open the door"

Wich Pollock did and then entered—wat! Good Heavens!

A HUNDRED MULATTO, QUADROON AND OCTOROON NIGGERS—TWO BY TWO

"Wat does this mean" shrieked I,

"Who are them" gasped Deakin Pogram,

"Hell!" sed Issaker Gavitt, profanely

"They are the posterity" sed Bigler, "referred too in my resolooshen 'This Government was established by white men, and shel be preserved for white men and their posterity' There may be a few here who wood be barred out in the score uv bein the posterity uv white women but there are excepshuns I shood hev included white women in my resolooshun The majority uv those here ez yoo kin easily determine by their color, are the posterity uv white men They are not pure black Here is every shade from the subdued yaller uv the mulatto up to the almost white uv him who hez only a sixteenth part nigger blood in his veins Uv course they will take seats and assist us in nominatin the ticket wich called us together"

"I v [illegible] wont" roared Deekin Pogram "I never will set in a Convenshen uv niggers—never, never, never!"

"Very good," sed Bigler "Ef this is the yoonanimous decision, we won't nominate any ticket I take the responsibility uv bustin this Convenshen But, oh Deekin! wat a goin back on your principles! Dare yoo deny that these shades, these modified mokes, are the posterity uv white men? Deekin, shood yoo cast your beamin eye over this assemblage, woodent it rest parentally and lovinly onto your own posterity? Oh Deekin ef yoo go back on the resolushen wich yoo yoonanimously voted for, don't, I beg uv yoo don't go back onto nacher Don't desert your children. Don't turn a deaf ear to the pleadings uv nacher, or a blind eye to her supplicashuns Hannibal Pogram go and beg yer father to permit yoo his posterity, scarcely blacker than he, and a cussed site handsomer, to mix in this yere caucus"

The Deekin indignantly left the room, and I follered soot wich example wuz followed by all uv us Bigler and Pollock remained and nominated a ticket uv these half bleeched cusses, making it up entirely uv the Pogram Gavitt and Punt niggers, ez these names they sed, hed weight in the county" Who will deliver us from these two bodies uv deth

Woman Suffrage in New Jersey

With unpardonable levity, the Judiciary Committee of the New Jersey House, has reported adversely to woman suffrage in that State—reporting on this grave subject in such a way as to display the waggish propensities of the members of the committee, and to injure the feelings of the women who made a respectful petition "When woman is the party who agitates the question of her rights" the committee say, "it becomes a matter of peculiar delicacy and difficulty It hath been said and the committee feel almost bound to apologize while they proceed, in obedience to duty, to consider the propriety of the present petition"

> "When women sue
> Men give like gods

It appears from the report of the committee that "the petitioners are only two while the women of the State are many thousands The committee thereupon observe If the women of the State either unanimously or even in a considerable number desire this right they will have it There is an old couplet that reads of women

> When she will she will you may depend on t
> When she won t she won t, and there s the end on t

And there is at least as much truth in this, even in politics, that if these women were to press their claim for suffrage with earnestness, the ordinary considerations which control parties and legislature would make their claim successful Besides the women of the State are in actual majority over the men of several thousands so that if there be of right no political distinction between them, the simple determination of the women to assume the right of suffrage should of itself be effectual Why not?"

The report concludes thus

"In view of all these circumstances the committee do report adversely to the prayer of the petitioners for suffrage, and if it be proper for them to make any suggestions for the benefit of the petitioners and those who sympathise with them, they would say with all respect with the stern old king of the ambitious Prince s

> A lusty brace

THE PRESERVATION OF EGGS.—On Thursday we received from Mr. S. S. Douglass, a couple of hens eggs which had been kept perfectly fresh for ten months by means of a chemical agent—the value of which was discovered some four or five years since, in New Jersey. The process is simply to dip the egg in a chemical preparation and as soon as dry to pack in oats or any other convenient packing. The discovery was patented in 1866, after its success had been fully tested by experiment. Mr. Douglass has the patent right for the Pacific coast. He assures us that he has kept eggs perfectly fresh for eighteen months after preparing them by the patented process, and has received fresh eggs from New York, via the Isthmus. The cost of preparation is about one cent and a half per dozen. The eggs handed us, after ten months keeping, were as fresh and pure as any we ever saw. One of them was broken to test it, and the other was cooked for the same purpose. Commercially speaking a cent and a half per dozen for preservation, may be too expensive; but that cost is trifling to housekeepers who find it not only difficult but very expensive to procure fresh eggs, during the hot summer months. To them, at least, a knowledge of the method would be invaluable and we can see no reason why the preparation could not be profitably used by dealers and shippers.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—We are indebted to a friend who came down from Oregon City last evening for a copy of the Enterprise, from which we copy the subjoined items: A rich vein was discovered on the third bench above this city, one day this week, by a workman who was engaged some distance below the surface, in sinking a well. We have no particulars.....Petitions are in circulation asking the Council for aid in the erection of a new flight of steps over the bluff from Fourth street; and the establishment of a separate district, for a school east of High street. Both are of great importance to the residents in that vicinity, and we hope to hear that the Council favors the [illegible] with what is asked for. Oregon City is beginning to spread to proportions such as renders extra legislation [illegible].....Visitors to the Woolen Factory must now first obtain a pass from the office, before passing through the works. This arises from annoyances heretofore unpleasant.....The P. T. Co. have offered to give the right away to the Oregon Central Railroad Company, over their property in this county, and throw their own rail[illegible] in as boot..... About three hundred head of the [illegible] cattle on the coast, [illegible] through this city last [illegible], being driven east of the [illegible] mountains. They were really the fat of the land.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—We clip the following items from the Register: Col Hodges has not, and we understand will not, remove his household to Portland.....The sentence of Michael Walsh has been commuted to imprisonment for life.....The contract for supplying the troops at this post with beef, for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1869, was let on Wednesday last. Durgan & Co., who have had the contract for the past two years, were again the successful bidders. The contract price is $6 42 per hundred.....A great amount of sickness is prevalent among children. A species of lung fever is the most dangerous disorder. On Salmon Creek, we understand the disease is not confined alone to children, as whole families have been down with it at a time.....We understand that Col. Blake, formerly commanding officer of this post, and Colonel of the 1st U. S. Cavalry, who has been absent in the East for more than a year, will leave New York shortly with four hundred recruits for his regiment, and [illegible] musicians for the 1st Cavalry band. The Colonel will, we understand, assume command of this Department upon his arrival, establishing his head quarters at this post.

[illegible] MEN'S TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION.—The members of the Portland Longshoremen's Protective Union, met last evening at the Fenian Guard's Armory, whence they marched in procession, bearing a transparency on which was inscribed, "Portland Longshoremen's Protective Union," and a number of torches, equal to something more than the membership of the Union. Mr. A. H. Sharkey was the Marshal of the procession. The [illegible] was preceded by martial music and the national banner, and as it marched through the principal streets of the city constituted a considerable demonstration, [illegible] the very short time the Union has been in existence. The Longshoremen's Union is evidently a power not to be lightly contemned by either the shipping interest or by those stevedores who refuse to join fortunes with them.

PULLING DOWN TO BUILD LARGER.—Mr. Richardson, auctioneer, sold yesterday four wooden buildings on and [illegible] the corner of Sixth and First streets. They are to be [illegible] to give place to brick buildings. We are told that Mr. W. S. Ladd intends to erect a banking house on the corner, and that the heirs of the late Thos [illegible] will build a large brick adjoining, and fronting [illegible]. Frank Dekum will erect another, next [illegible] next year. The spirit of improvement and the growth of business begin to demand a [illegible] class of buildings than the most of those now occupying First street. We hear, also, that Mr. G. W. [illegible] is to tear down several small [illegible] now occupied by [illegible] on Alder street, between First and Second and to erect in lieu of them a large brick building.

[illegible] FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The O. O. & N. S. S. Co's [illegible] ship John L. Stephens, Wm. Metzger, Commander, sailed for San Francisco, at 6 o'clock last evening, taking the following passengers: Col R A Eddy, wife, child and servant, U S A, Capt C H Lester, U S A, Lieut M M [illegible], U S A, Maj D Perry, U S A, Lieut W O Manning, U S A, John McCowan, Dr A Roquette, R H Tyson, Wm McCracken and wife, M W Holley, Mrs J Weller, Mrs Dobbs and daughter, Hugh Fenton, S Reddick, M O'Connor, Rev F O Dillon, H Bergdorf, Mrs E [illegible], 6 H Percival, E L Bristow, Lieut P Hayden, U S A, O Waterman, Edward Yelak, Mrs Wm Moore, Mrs Norris, F DeWitt, Jim Pow and wife, E S [illegible], wife and child, 63 enlisted men, 8th Cavalry, U S A, and 23 in the steerage.

A SPECIMEN TAXIDERMY.—Mr. George Myers called our attention, yesterday, to a well preserved Elk's head, with [illegible] attached, which was preserved and stuffed by Mr. S. S. Douglass, of this city. It looks for all the world as alive and ready to run away, in alarm. The skin of the head was brought here by Mr. Myers some weeks ago from Neah Bay and he has procured its preservation in this manner for Mr. Webster, the Indian Agent at Neah Bay. Mr. Douglass is evidently skilled in this sort of work.

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The following are the amounts of treasure shipped yesterday per steamer John L. Stephens:

Wells, Fargo & Co.	$ 90,000
[illegible]	20 000
[illegible]	$110,000

[illegible].—Arrived yesterday per steamer [illegible], 11 hlf bbls butter, 61 gunnies and 7 cases bacon, [illegible], 20 boxes eggs, 40 hlf bbls dried apples, and [illegible] 326 sacks oats.

Per [illegible] Alert, 1,040 qr sks flour, 140 bags wheat, [illegible] 96 gunnies bacon, 2 dr[illegible] hogs and 4 hlf bbls unspecified.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT.—Rappleye's new map of Oregon and the Territories having been submitted to the inspection of Gen. Crook who has become well acquainted with [illegible] and Southern Idaho, he volunteers a flattering [illegible] to its accuracy and completeness. He says it is the only map he ever saw which gives any fair idea of Eastern Oregon.

[illegible] FUND.—We received yesterday from Mr. [illegible], $2 00 for the cork-leg fund. The total [illegible] through the OREGONIAN and Bulletin [illegible]. About double this sum will be required to fit out Mr. Atkins with a new leg; so that there is still room for the exercise of charity. Do not let the one [illegible].

[illegible] POSTPONED.—The Fenian Guard have been compelled by the bad weather to further postpone their picnic excursion. No day has been agreed upon [illegible] will take place as soon as the weather [illegible], and the public will have due notice. The last week or two of May has been very fatal to picnics.

[illegible]!—Hon. David Logan, who will, on [illegible] be triumphantly elected Oregon's next Representative in Congress, will address his fellow-citizens this [illegible] at the Court house. There will be a tremendous rush and those who want sitting or standing room inside the building must turn out early.

AN OLD PORTLANDER HEARD FROM.—Bro. Ireland of the [illegible] says: "Our friend Theo. F. Miner, of [illegible], N. Y., is now running a superb business in the [illegible] line. His 'Morning Glory of 1868,' is a superb [illegible] for parlor or office, according to the photograph sent us."

[illegible] Brig. Gen. Crook left this city by [illegible] boat, yesterday morning, to join his command [illegible]. We are informed that he is also placed [illegible] of the Department of the Columbia [illegible] of Gen. [illegible].

CAMP MEETING.—A Methodist camp meeting for the [illegible] circuit, will commence on the 11th of June, on the [illegible] near the Unity school house, three miles below Dayton, on the Portland road.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The Quarterly meeting services of the M. E. Church, will commence with preaching at [illegible] this afternoon. There will be services at the [illegible] hours to-morrow.

[illegible].—The company of the 8th U. S. Cavalry, under Captain Lester, lately stationed at Ft. Lapwai, [illegible] last evening on board the steamship Stephens for San Francisco.

SPEAKING AT OSWEGO.—Mr. J. F. Caples of this city, [illegible] the people at Oswego on political issues, this [illegible] at eight o'clock. Everybody is invited to attend.

[illegible].—We learn that Mr. Lloyd Brooke of this city, who has been some months absent at the east, is on [illegible] home.

[illegible].—The SPIRIT OF THOS STARR KING will speak through the mediumship of A. A. CLEAVELAND at Oro Fino Hall on Sunday eve at half past seven o'clock. Answers to oft recurring questions.

The [illegible] STYLES OF BOYS' HATS received per last steamer, and for sale by J. A. DAY, 103 Front street.

To [illegible] IN WANT OF PHOTOGRAPHS, we would say that it is a first-rate time to visit Buchtel's Gallery, where the latest and finest styles may be had—J. H. Montgomery, operator.

[illegible].—Those stylish Summer Suits, direct from New York, and for sale by Wm. Currier & Co., 103 Front street.

A HUGE BLUNDER.—Yesterday morning several items appeared in our local column which had been published on Wednesday morning. They got in through the carelessness of the person who made up the forms. The items of Wednesday morning and yesterday morning were standing on the "stone" side by side and when the fireman came to lift the matter, he took the wrong column. As a matter of course, about the same amount of new matter prepared for yesterday morning's paper was left out. The following are the deferred items. The reader must bear in mind that their proper date is Friday, 29th.

A ROUGH TRIP.—The steamship Active had a long and rough trip from Victoria. She sailed on the morning of Sunday the 24th, and did not cross the bar till about 7 o'clock P. M. of the 28th, having experienced heavy southerly winds, the entire passage. She arrived off the bar Monday evening, but the pilot boat not being in sight she lay off till the following morning when the pilot boat was signaled. The latter came down near the bar and finding it too rough to be safe, put about and returned to Astoria. Capt. Floyd stood off and on till late in the afternoon when he concluded to cross without a pilot which he accomplished without any accident, though the surf was breaking clear across the channel. The passengers were of course very sea sick, but they represent that Captain Floyd and his officers treated them with great consideration, care and politeness. They are loud in their praises of both the ship and her commander.

A FALSE REPORT.—A report was current here for a short time yesterday afternoon that the steamer Union, had exploded her boiler and that one or two passengers were killed. A passenger who came down on her to Oregon City and thence to Portland by the Alert, says he heard nothing of any explosion or of anybody being killed, till he landed at Portland. When the Alert left Oregon City the Union lay in the basin, with her fires nearly out. Bilu says if there was an explosion, it must have been altogether a private affair. The person who started the report here was engaged in a very mean and senseless piece of business.

AN EXCITING RACE.—We see posters around town announcing that on Saturday, the 30th, the Sheppard Boy from San Francisco, and Michael Shea will run a four mile foot race over the Union course for $200 a side, with $150 added by the proprietor of the grounds. It is not stated whether the four miles are to be run without stopping, or are to be run in heats. There will be two heated men, however, at the end of the 4th mile, if they both run that far.

MT. HOOD.—A correspondent of the New York Evening Post proposes that Mount Hood, on the Pacific coast, be named by act of Congress or by common consent, Mt. Lincoln, in honor of Abraham Lincoln. He says: "Mount Washington would catch the first bright news of our rising sun, and when his arch was finished, as he should sink below the Pacific horizon, his last lingering glories would be a 'halo' round the head of 'Lincoln.'"

A VALUABLE HORSE KILLED.—A day or two ago, a race horse, known as the Butler Creek horse, in keeping at the Union course, was kicked by the Bybee mare with such force as to break one of his legs badly. An examination of the hurt proved that it was of such a nature as to preclude the hope of recovery, and the horse was taken out and shot.

AID TO THE RAILROAD.—An ordinance, introduced into the Council by Mr. Fechheimer, Wednesday evening, provides for guaranteeing the interest upon $600,000 of the east side Railroad Co's bonds, on condition that the company shall build a bridge across the Willamette and establish their depot within the city's limits.

HOME.—Messrs. Logan and Smith arrived at this city from Eastern Oregon, by the Cascade yesterday afternoon. They have now completed the canvass of the State, as per programme of appointments for speaking.

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 29th, 1868.

H. W. RAPPLEYE—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in stating that I regard your Map of Oregon the most accurate that I have seen published, and in fact the only one that gives anything like a correct idea of Eastern Oregon and its surroundings.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
Your ob't serv't,
GEORGE CROOK,
my30dawtf Bvt. Maj. Gen'l, U. S. A.

A STREET SCENE.—A gentleman was walking down Front street yesterday, very finely dressed, wearing a Ventilated Straw Expert Hat, which suited his style of dress first rate. A man from the opposite side, approached him, asking, "Jimmy, where did you get your hat from? I wish to get one just like it." "I bought it of Meussdorffer. I have bought my hats of them ever since I arrived on the coast—first in San Francisco, then my business took me up to Marysville, where I got my hats brushed off in their store, they never charging me anything for such little jobs; finally I went to Sacramento where I purchased the hat of Meussdorffer which I wore yesterday. Last steamer brought me up to Portland, and of course my silk hat was too heavy to wear during the hot weather, so I was compelled to call on Meussdorffer again, and got this hat. I came very near purchasing three hats, for he had so many different styles that suited me, it was hard to say which I liked best. I would advise you to call on him soon, for he said he had only a few dozen left." The gentleman immediately started for Meussdorffer's Hat Store.

Dutcher's Lightning Fly-Killer.—THAT PEST OF SUMMER, huge black swarms of flies can be got rid of cheaply and easily by the use of the above popular article, which has an enormous sale at the East, and is now for sale by dealers everywhere.

A THRILLING INCIDENT.

In the mission life of Mrs. Ingalls, in Burmah, is well told in the "Baptist Messenger," relating how she was sent for to visit one of the Budhist high priests, who had been nearly killed, and how, while in the most holy place in their temple, where none but the priests had ever before been admitted, she was permitted unrebuked to use for him the sacred vessels which none but the high priest dare touch, and to even overturn and sit on one of their gods to rest, all through the magic influence of the Pain Killer, called by them the "God medicine," so successfully had she used it in curing their many diseases, some of them considered heretofore fatal in that climate, among which were cholera, liver complaint, dyspepsia, the bites of venomous reptiles, &c. This speaks volumes for the Pain Killer.—London Times.

Rev. J. F. Clough, Missionary at Ongole, Southern India, writes: "We esteem your Pain Killer very highly for scorpion stings, cholera, &c., and cannot very well get along without it."

Rev. I. D. Colburn, Missionary at Tavoy, Burmah, writes: "I shall be happy to assist in extending a knowledge of a remedy so speedy and effectual." m1daw1m

WILLIAM KOEHLER,
DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets, opposite E. J. Northrup & Co's Hardware Store.

I am now making, amongst numerous other styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the Improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr. G. W. Cod's Patent, patented Dec. 3, 1861, the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold. It not only makes the plate double as strong and cleanlier than the common Vulcanite Plate. It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common plates. Call and see specimens.

N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr. G. W. Cod's Improved Vulcanite Plates can have it made out to them by applying to this office.

N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts. The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only aids to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels;
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Gentle Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from Old Age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and to establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

A Little Love History.

CONSTANCY OF A BLACKSMITH.

The statement made by a gifted authoress, that 'love is only an episode in the life of a man, but the whole life of a woman,' is a sentimental falsehood. It is untrue any way you take it, particularly in reference to the relative constancy of the sexes. In the case of Mary M——, a sprightly, handsome young widow, who recently married, not far from St. Louis, there is an illustration of the falsity of Madame De Stael's aphorism. It is about five years since Mary came to this country. She came over here to join some relatives who were in favorable circumstances, and had sent her money to make the voyage. Immediately on her arrival, it was noticed she was in a despondent state of mind.

At first, it was supposed that it was merely the effect of home-sickness, but it was finally ascertained it was a deeper malady—Mary was in love, and she had left her heart in the keeping of a young blacksmith who lived among the hills of the Shamrock. This young man was unable to come to America, as he was the main stay of two aged parents; and so Mary and he parted, one misty morning in March, with tears, kisses and vows of eternal fidelity. Mary sailed "across the say," to the land of Uncle Sam, and the young blacksmith returned to his hammer and anvil with a heavy heart. His affection glowed like the fire of his furnace, and the sound of the bellows seemed to him like the roar of the winds that blew away his Mary.

Now, it might be reasonably supposed that Mary, so pretty and amiable, would be true to her lover until he buried his parents and came over the Atlantic to marry her. But, alas! such was not the case. Mary's whole life was love, but in a queer way; not in faithfulness to one object, but in a manner which rendered it imperative that when one lover was gone she must have another immediately.

For a month or so she was sad, sighed and indulged in petty reveries; but "Young America" speedily consoled her. She became a great favorite among her friends, and saw a good deal of dancing and amusement. Gradually her brow cleared. The blacksmith faded from her memory, except at times, when across the ocean she seemed to hear the sound of his hammer.

Before she had been in St. Louis long she had many many suitors, and finally one of these young men was admitted to the position of her accepted lover. How it was that the young blacksmith in Ireland found out that his Mary was proving false, no one [illegible] presume to say, but love has a strange [illegible], and find out he did, long before Mary had [illegible] her second engagement [illegible] his letters had ceased entirely. What his feelings were we shall not undertake to decide. Well, to make a long story short, Mary married her American lover, and, it is rumored, that she [illegible] startled out of her sleep, on her wedding night, by the sound of a hammer that beat on an anvil among the hills of Ireland, three [illegible] miles away.

Whether [illegible] life was happy at first, it [illegible] probably it was, as faithless [illegible] troubled by remorse. Ill luck, however, found her finally. A year and a half after her marriage her husband died, and she was left alone with one child. Her means were but small, and she was compelled to economize in order to get along. She grew sober and serious, and was often found in tears. Her private meditations, probably, merely consisted of idle repinings of little worth. One evening, not long ago, she was scared half out of her senses by the appearance of the young blacksmith standing by her side, not, however, the ghastly shape, but in warm flesh and blood.

He had come over to the country a few weeks before, and hearing the whole story of his Mary's falsity and her position, instead of scorning her, his old love, which had drooped but never died, revived like an unquenchable flame. He determined to seek her, and so he did, and found her, too. Why [illegible] on this little history? They are now married, and are living very happily together. Mary, like all women, being ready to swear she [illegible] anybody but her darling blacksmith, although there is a living evidence of her faithlessness. Thus the maiden, like a shallow rivulet, rippled over the rocks of her own follies into a [illegible] pool under the quiet shadow of domestic felicity. In fact, she is just as happy as if she had never broken her faith with the lover of her youth, and now, in riper years, her husband.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, May 29, 1868.

Gold [illegible] in New York on the 27th, at 140½ and [illegible]

San Francisco Legal Tender quotations, on the same day, were [illegible]

New York wheat market dull at $2 [illegible] 95—a decline [illegible] week of 20 cents per cental. Flour, $12@ [illegible]

Liverpool wheat market, 14s 6d—a material falling off. The [illegible] flour market, with the exception of [illegible] feeling in baker's brands, remains as [illegible]. The wheat market is firm at $2 70@ $2 75 for good to choice. Oats range from $2 10 to $2 45, [illegible] being quoted at $2 12½.

We have no change of importance to note in our produce [illegible] is very light and it is difficult to [illegible] quotations. The only transactions of the week of which we have any knowledge are inconsiderable and [illegible]. The arrivals of produce are now [illegible] of note and the stocks lately on hand have been [illegible] shipped away, so that the market is [illegible] are that very inconsiderable [illegible] will be shipped between now and the first of [illegible]. Our [illegible] of two weeks ago of the [illegible] of flour and wheat yet on hand and to go [illegible] before harvest, was probably over rather than [illegible] for the [illegible] as it now seems. We then gave 10,000 [illegible] and 5,000 [illegible] of wheat as the estimate [illegible] will [illegible] certainly be within those [illegible] demand should arise to advance [illegible] We [illegible] have a greater surplus than that [illegible] mostly go over to the next [illegible]

[illegible] price for good white. These have been limited arrivals from the country by [illegible] of which have been sold [illegible] have been also [illegible] by wagon, sold at a rather [illegible] the average being a trifle below our former [illegible]

[illegible] fully, very quiet, perhaps [illegible]. Quotations, [illegible] with the exception of rope [illegible] to 12c; and crushed sugars which are [illegible] cent advance. The prevalent dullness of trade will not be [illegible] till the June elections are well over. [illegible] if the anticipations of the early [illegible] to the [illegible] trade, be realized. The [illegible] from the mining regions are not encouraging and it is now pretty [illegible] that our dependence must be [illegible] upon the Willamette valley.

The following from the San Francisco Commercial Herald of May 21st, is more outspoken for the interests of Oregon than we are accustomed to find in California [illegible]. We are glad to find that Oregon has one [illegible] at court":

The [illegible] of the Oregon line of steamers is in a fair way to produce disastrous results to the [illegible]. The exercise of even ordinary judgment upon the part of [illegible] agents would have avoided the rocks which now raise their threatening heads. The Oregonians complain that the freights and charges imposed by this line are exercising the most depressing effects on all their vital interests. It has cost them nearly two thirds as much to lay down their flour, wheat and other [illegible] in San Francisco as it has the people of California to place their flour in the New York market by steamer. The rates of freight on the line in question, from Oregon to this city, have been from seven to ten [illegible] the ton, while we have for several months past been [illegible] flour and wheat to Atlantic ports, round the Horn, for twelve dollars the ton. It is quite impossible that the Oregonians should compete, with any chance of [illegible], against such crushing odds. The maritime requirements of our sister State can be only effectively supplied by steam, although a considerable share has been done by sailing vessels. The impediments to ordinary navigation which have to be overcome in the Columbia river have militated greatly in favor of steamers, and the advantage been greedily availed of by the [illegible] of the company undergoing comment, who [illegible] would have been better served by showing a more liberal and less arrogant spirit toward its employes and patrons.

Oregon [illegible] that the first great want of their State is a large immigration, principally of agriculturists, [illegible] and they thoroughly understand that farmers from abroad will not seek their shores when they can do twice as well in California from the same amount and quality of crops. They are impressed with the conviction that the only line of [illegible] to which they have had [illegible] has hastened to grow rich at their expense, and apparently regardless of their interests. The parsimony of the [illegible] offered by the Oregon line of steamers had the effect of retarding their shipments of wheat and flour when those articles bore the highest price, in consequence of which they did not find a market until prices had so far receded as to preclude the chance for profit after the freight to this city had been paid. It is affirmed by the best informed Oregon journals, that at least one half their whole grain crop has yet to come forward, and in this strait it has been suggested to charter ships in this port to enter the Columbia river and load from [illegible] direct for Europe. By adopting this course Oregonians may yet save themselves from heavy loss, which is certain to attend shipments to this port, as it is well known that if the present method of procedure be continued the grain and flour will barely pay the cost of cultivation. They know that to immigration alone they must look for their future wealth and power, their ultimate political, commercial, agricultural and manufacturing status; and they are not slow to affirm that these vital elements have been repressed in a cruel and remorseless manner by the action of the very parties whom they have sustained and nourished.

Let it [illegible], then, that the capitalists of that State should combine to place a formidable rival line upon the route! In this event, there will be no opposition, properly so called, for the steamers will be owned and freighted by the same parties, who will naturally place rates at the lowest possible paying figure. They will look for the bulk of their profit to a stimulated immigration, the attendant rise in the value of property, the lessened cost at which they can place their produce in market, the consequent extension of their business relations, the greater amount of ready money in circulation received in payment for the greater volume of their productions in agriculture and manufactures, and in the assured prosperity of the masses. With the whole and undisputed steamer trade of Oregon in their hands, the directors of the Oregon steamship line have blindly pursued a course which now threatens to drive them from the field. Had they adopted the old and forcible Spanish proverb, "poco a poco se anda lejos," they might have continued in quiet possession, and held control of the situation for years to come, when the business will have assumed grandiose proportions. If the management has become excessively unpopular, if it excites a fixed determination to lay on another line to which the business will be given, if all the people in one State, and many thousands in another, unite in condemning its short-sighted, greedy, grasping policy, the stockholders may ask the directors for explanations, and, failing to receive them, let them appeal to the people of Oregon, who are ready to give them in extenso.

PACIFIC TURBINE WATER WHEEL.

THESE WHEELS EXCEL ANY OTHER WHEEL in use, and are no infringement on the Leffel American Turbine, but excel it in every particular.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern:—One A. Myers is publishing and circulating a statement that my wheel is an infringement on the Leffel wheel, and he will "prosecute said infringement to the utmost extent of the Law." His statements are not worth a denial. His game is "Bluff," which, if he would only take the case to Court, would soon be played out. Don't believe him!

I would be glad to get a case into the United States Court and get a decision. That would forever stop the mouth of Myers and his misrepresentations. The legal opinions of more reputable lawyers than Dodge & Munn and A. Myers have pronounced my patents no infringement on the American Turbine. H. W. SHIPLEY.

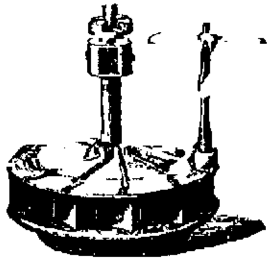
LEFFEL'S
AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE



THESE WHEELS, UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

CAUTION.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby give notice that the so-called "Shipley's Pacific Turbine Water Wheel" is a direct infringement and copy of the "James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheel," and its manufacture and use is hereby prohibited. Any person or persons making, using, constructing or vending said Water Wheels make themselves liable to heavy damages and penalties. Parties interested will take notice, for I shall prosecute said infringements to the utmost extent of the law.

That all may know I mean what I say, and am not playing "bluff," I give the following extract from a legal opinion on this subject from one of the most eminent Patent Attorneys in the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17, 1868.

"MR. A. MYERS—In accordance with your request, we have examined the patents of Shipley on Water Wheels, and are clearly of the opinion that they both infringe the Leffel's patents. In both of Shipley's Wheels he uses the upper and lower tiers of buckets precisely as Leffel does, and in this he clearly infringes. The fact that Shipley has applied another series of buckets in addition as those used by Leffel, does not relieve him from the consequences of infringement at all. He has no right to use those two tier of buckets, whether alone or with a third, or any other number of tiers added. It is a clear infringement. Respectfully yours,

DODGE & MUNN.

I hereby give notice that I will prosecute every infringement on our Patents, whether it is the maker, user, buyer or seller. Every infringement, whether our claims are used in whole or in part, will be prosecuted.

A. MYERS.

Medical.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten, are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. 1y5d4ptf
